Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Saturday 10 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Heavy showers in north. Rain at times in south.

This Evening and Tonight:
Daytime showers slowly dying out for most leaving a dry night for many with some clear spells. Becoming cloudier in west later with some rain into far south of Northern Ireland and far southwest of England and Wales.

Sunday:
Cloudy in southwest with some rain. Elsewhere sunny spells and showers, particularly northern England and Scotland where thunderstorms possible. Best of the weather in southeast but rain possible later.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Sunny spells and heavy showers, risk of thunder, with a spell of more persistent rain possible across southern England for a time on Monday. Mostly fine and dry on Wednesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.